Hope Loses Final Football Tilt to Nashville, 20-13

Turkey Day Game Gives District Ten Title to Nashville

PASS ATTACK FAILS

Hope's Offensive Thrust Weakens in Final Quarter

In their annual Turkey Day tilt at Nashville the Hope Bobcats were defeated by the Nashville Scrappers 20 to 13.

The victory gave Nashville the football championship of District Ten. Hope scored first, in the first five minutes of play, when an onside kick on the initial kick-off gave Hope the ball on the middle of the field. Wray and Hargis made a first down. Bacon took an off-tackle plunge for 11 yards on another first down. After several short plunges by Bacon and Hargis, Harrell took the ball over for the first marker of the game. Hargis plunged the line for the extra point.

Nashville received and Morris, quarterback, returned for 30 yards. Hope stopped Nashville's rally and punted out of danger as the quarter ended.

Nashville Strong
The second quarter was featured by several short gains and several good punts by both Hope and Nashville. In this quarter Nashville seemed to have a slight edge over the Bobcats, making three first downs to Hope's two, and twice threatening to score.

Hope received, Harrell returning the kick-off for a 30-yard gain. Bacon made five yards on two plays. Harrell's kick was blocked and recovered by Nashville, who made 10 yards on the next three plays and a first down. On the next play, Young, fullback for the Scrappers, made a run of about 25 yards and a touchdown. They plunged for the extra point.

Hope received at the beginning of the second half and carried the ball down to Nashville's 15-yard line but lacked the punch to put it over. Losing the ball to Nashville, who punted out of danger. The Bobcats later started another rally but were stopped by the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter Hope's change from straight football to a passing attack proved unfortunate, for two passes were intercepted—one by Young, who carried the ball over on the next three plays and another for 30 yards for the last Nashville marker. A pass was good for one extra point, but their try for a place-kick was low.

Final Touchdown
After this setback, the Hope Bobcats came back strong and Bacon made a touchdown, and were making a determined drive for another when the final whistle blew, leaving the final score: Nashville 20, Hope 13, as a fumble by Hope prevented them making one extra point.

Hope and Nashville were about evenly matched for they made an equal number of first downs: 7. The game was clearly fought, only 60 yards in penalties were given—Hope 35 yards and Nashville 25. This was the last game in high school for Bill Wray, quarterback, who has played splendidly this year, and Lynn Harrell, halfback, who has been handicapped by injuries most of the season, but played good for the team in spite of this fact. Hope has quite a bit of good material for next year, in the line, and backfield.

Two of Hope's men who are expected to do well next year did not appear in yesterday's game on account of injuries. Schooley, regular guard and elevator, consistent player and Rowe, substitute halfback, who has made wonderful strides in learning the game his first year out, and who is a fast, hard runner and a sure tackler.

The line-up:

Right end

Five whole counties and part of one county in Florida and nine whole counties, remainder of two counties and part of one county in Texas will be released Monday, making 18 whole counties, remainders of three and parts of two others in the three states to be released Monday. ## Growth of Ivory Handle Firm Told at Luncheon Meet

Jim Henry Sketches History For Rotarians Since Foundry 1901

INCREASED 4 TIMES

Pay Roll Today Amounts to $1,200 a Week—Home Industry

The dramatic rescue of an order for Hope-made goods, from a sinking steamer, in mid-Pacific, was told to Hope Rotarians Friday noon by Jim Henry, vice president and general manager of the Ivory Handle company.

"We recently received a letter containing a substantial order for handles from one of our good export customers," said Mr. Henry. "The order was from John Burns, Ltd., Auckland, New Zealand. It came in an envelope marked, 'Salvaged from the steamer Tahiti'."

"The Japanese steamer Tahiti, you recall, went down in mid-Pacific early this fall. This order for Hope-made handles was in the mail aboard that ship—and when the rescue of passengers was effected, the mail was brought off safely, too, and was re-shipped to San Francisco, and thus there was a considerable bit of business saved for Hope capital and Hope workmen."

The story of the founding and growth of the Ivory Handle company, and the introduction of Hope-made handles, was the subject of an interesting program at the Rotary club luncheon in Hotel Barlow Friday.

The industrial story was told by Jim Henry, vice-president, and general manager of the Ivory Handle company who was introduced by J. P. Duffie, of the industrial committee. Mr. Henry said:

Organized in 1901.
"The Ivory Handle company was organized February 14, 1901, and began operations in March that year. It was capitalized at $5,000, all fully paid, and entirely home-owned. The original stockholders were:

"A. A. Gibson, C. A. Bridewell, W. Y. Foster, T. R. King, J. T. West, Dr. K. G. McGinnis, J. R. Henry, S. B. Henry, A. P. Dyke, John S. Gibson and W. H. Brazell. The president was A. A. Gibson, with T. R. King as vice-president and general manager, and C. A. Bridewell as secretary-treasurer. "The company started with three lathes, three double-grinders, 21 employees and a capacity of 100 dozen handles per day."

"Today we have 15 lathes, 15 saws, a normal pay roll of $1,200 a week, and a capacity of 450 dozen handles per day. We use about 25 cords of hickory timber a day."

"In addition, we maintain five country most of which are located along the Kansas City Southern line between DeQueen and Mena. "Some changes have been made in the finishing and handling of the completed product in recent years. We create up the finished handles, using about 1,000 feet of crating lumber per day. The handles are finished with a lacquer which makes them impervious to moisture and worms."

"The handle-manufacturing business is truly an American industry. We are the only nation in the world which manufactures and sells handles on a large scale. There are only seven states which produce good hickory wood, and only 14 companies engaged in manufacturing handles."

"Big Export Business
"The Ivory Handle company ships handles to every state in America except New England, and to most foreign countries. This morning's mail brought us an order from Auckland, New Zealand, and one each from Mexico and Canada."

"Our foreign business frequently requires the extensive use of a translator."

Dr. J. L. Cannon was introduced by E. F. McFaddin, and spoke briefly on the fellowship which characterizes present-day societies. "Only a comparatively few years ago the appearance of Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian ministers in the same meeting would produce a debate on some topic or other," he said. "That is not true today. We are engaged today in more useful work. We appreciate more fully the far-reaching service that remains to be performed for all humanity—the thing for which all churches stand, for which most of the institutions of modern-day society stand."

Other guests were: Dr. W. R. Anderson, pastor of First Presbyterian church; Dr. W. A. Bowen, pastor of First Baptist church, of this city; and Joe Calloway, Rotarian of Arkadelphia.

Young Girl Killed as Auto Overtakes

Four Others of Party Injured—Were Enroute to Football Game

TEXARKANA—What was to have been a happy Thanksgiving celebration in Shreveport terminated in grim tragedy late Wednesday night about 25 miles southwest of Texarkana when an automobile in which eight young persons were riding flipped over twice, killing one girl and injuring three men and another girl. Other occupants of the car escaped injury.

Miss Edyth Roberta Robbins, 19-year-old daughter of Harold B. Robbins, prominent North Little Rock lumberman, died in Atlanta about a half hour after the accident. She suffered a crushed chest and concussion of the brain. The injured are Don Rau, 25, crushed chest; Ernest Messer, 25, injured hand and cuts and bruises about the body; Fred Abbey, 21, injured arm; and Miss Jerry Wilkinson, 23, head injuries. The four injured were all of Shreveport.

Other occupants of the car who escaped injury were Miss Ruth Dornham and Miss Marian Sheppard, of Little Rock, and Mel Stephenson, of Shreveport.

The eight young people were on their way to Shreveport to attend the University of Arkansas-Centenary football game when the accident occurred. Rounding a curve about three miles northeast of Atlanta, the automobile struck a rock, overturned twice and plunged into a ditch. After waiting in vain for aid for almost a half hour, the men righted the car and drove it to Atlanta, Miss. Robbing dying before a physician could be found.

Receiving a call at about 1 a. m. Thursday a Revera ambulance was rushed to the scene. The injured and the dead girl were brought to Texarkana early Thursday morning. Rau, Messer and Abbey, all employees at Shreveport, and Miss Wilkinson were taken to Michael Meagher hospital. Rau, the driver of the death car, was the only one seriously injured.

According to uninjured members of the party, the Little Rock girl had arrived in Texarkana early Wednesday night. They were met here by Rau and his companions of Shreveport. The accident occurred at 10:30 p. m.

Brutal Slaying Is Discovered When Man Visits Farm

Motive and Identity of Killer Baffle the Police Working on Case

PROMINENT FAMILY

Victims Are Each Stabbed Over Heart By Sharp Instrument

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—A family of four, living on a farm near Stanfordville, were found stabbed to death at their home Friday.

Police were without a clue to the assailant or any motive for the crime. The farmer, his wife, daughter and son, were found by an elderly teamster, who called at the farm to deliver shipments of cream. He delivered dairy by the farmer and had been delivered.

James Hester Germond, 47, his wife, Mrs. Mabel Germond, 45, Betty Germond, 18, and Raymond Germond, 16, were the victims.

The time of the brutal murder, fixed by police as being sometime Wednesday.

Each of the four were stabbed in the heart, with a blade apparently inch wide. The instrument, supposed to have been a butcher knife, was not found.

Officials are of the opinion that Mrs. Germond was stabbed as she opened the kitchen door to the teamster, who then stepped into the room and pursued the daughter into the parlor, stabbing her.

Leaving the house, the teamster, the knife is believed to have been used by the father and son at the house, killed them and dragged their bodies into that building.

The doors of the wagon house, closed, in an effort to "conceal" bodies of the two victims, it is thought. Police are of the opinion that the boy attempted to flee, as there was evidence of this by a number of footprints from a near-by field clinging to his clothing.

Camden Loses State Title in Last Game

Panthers Smashed 19-14 By El Dorado—Oil Field Eleven Has Upset Many Championship Hopes This Season—Title Divided Between 5 Cities

Camden, the last undefeated major league team in the state, was defeated by a powerful El Dorado team this morning in the oil field. The Panthers, who had been leading the championship race, were upset by the El Dorado team, which had been considered a dark horse. The game was a close one, with the Panthers leading 14-0 in the first quarter, but the El Dorado team came back to win 19-14. The Panthers' defeat was a crushing blow to their championship hopes, as they were now one of five teams vying for the state title.

OUTOUR WAY

On the other hand, the El Dorado-Camden contest is one of those famous "jinx" affairs. Camden could have had the better team and still have lost—as any football fan knows.

There will probably be no formal declaration of a football championship this year, because with Camden's defeat there are four and possibly five major eleven teams with equal claims on the title. Teams that have played representative schedules and lost but one game are:

Fordyce, Camden, El Dorado, Little Rock, and possibly Malvern.

All five of the above have lost but one game, but Malvern has played fewer strong teams than the others. Malvern was defeated by Fordyce 6 to 0, but won a victory over Pine Bluff, 19 to 7. However, the Leopards did not meet either Little Rock, El Dorado or Camden. But Malvern's narrow margin of defeat by Fordyce, and her decisive victory over Pine Bluff shows clearly that this team is entitled to equal consideration for this year's championship.

On the basis of total conference games played, Fordyce, having met five of the strongest high school eleven in the state, would seem to be entitled to first consideration. But Fordyce lost to Camden, 7 to 0, and was tied by El Dorado, 7-7. Fordyce beat Little Rock, Pine Bluff and Malvern.

Camden defeated Pine Bluff and Fordyce, but lost to El Dorado. Little Rock beat El Dorado in the second game of the season, defeated Pine Bluff, but was swamped by Fordyce 34 to 0.

A curious point which may be involved in the championship dispute is El Dorado's defeat by Little Rock. This was a September game, the second of the season, and was originally scheduled between Camden and Little Rock.

The game was to have been played in daylight, but at the last moment Little Rock requested that it be staged at night under the flood-lights of Kavanaugh Field. Camden refused to enter the night contest—and the game was offered to El Dorado.

The Wildcats accepted, confident they had a championship outfit. Little Rock, more accustomed to playing under lights (so the El Dorado story goes), headed the oil field eleven a 13-to-0 defeat.

And yet, that was the only game El Dorado lost this fall.

The oil field team has turned out to the nemesis of every championship hope in the state, the football schedule pyramiding one hope upon another, leading right down to the Thanksgiving day contest in which the title clearly rested on the shoulders of the Camden team, only to be knocked off by El Dorado.

First, the Jordan twins of Fordyce swamped Little Rock and put the capital city eleven out of the running. Fordyce clipped another championship hope by smashing Pine Bluff. Yet in the Astoria day game at Fordyce, El Dorado laid an ominous hand on the title by outplaying the Reddubs more than half the game, and earning a 7-to-1 tie.

Fordyce's title hopes perished the following Friday, November 21, when the Reddubs were beaten at Camden by the Camden Panthers, 7 to 0.

Thus, Camden had a clear title to state honors when the game was called Thanksgiving day at El Dorado.

And thus, El Dorado has destroyed the championship hopes of at least three teams, Little Rock, Fordyce, and Camden—without being able to lay a clear claim on the title for itself.

Hooks and Slides by William Braucher

Members in California. I do not know Arthur M. Arlett, editor-in-chief of the University of California campus publication, "The Daily Californian," but in this department ever since he converted from "Hooks and Slides" into "The Question Box," surely we would send for Mr. Arlett and offer him a fat contract.

Mr. Arlett is the champion endurance questioner of the world. Following the recent disaster to the UCLA team, a 74-to-0 defeat at the hands of Southern California, Mr. Arlett waxed what you might call lightly querulous. Among other things he asked:

"Does California, a competent coaching staff? Does the head coach (Nips Price), though being a Californian, a good sport and a former successful assistant coach, justify the payment of a large salary, or should the associated students hire a good sport who has been a successful head coach, regardless of his alumni affiliations?"

About Subsidizing. The salary paid because of the school attended or the job to be filled? If California were to hire someone else to coach, would he be able to do any better with the material at hand? Is a proportionate amount of good material coming to California? If there is lack of it in an institution of this size what is the reason? Should we begin subsidizing in an effort to regain our pinnacle position, or should we go after those who now subsidize?

As a matter of fact, who does subsidize? Who can find out who subsidizes? And, having found out, who has the spirit and courage to say so in open meeting?

Protesting the Protest. It goes along like that for a long while. Then students hold a protest meeting. Then there is another protest meeting, to protest the protest and declare that Nips Price is fired, the team will go on strike. After that some more meetings. Southern California's football team is labeled "the best professional team in the United States."

Your correspondent doesn't know the reply to all of Mr. Arlett's burning questions. But it seems to me quite a few of them can be answered by the simple statement that Howard Jones has one of the greatest teams this year he ever has coached, while it is "an off year" at California. Things like this have happened before in various parts of the country, several times among the Big Three of Harvard, Princeton and Yale.

I don't think the answer is in the coaching. In 1928 Knute Rockne's team lost four important games. It is platitudeous that you can't always have a winner.

About Nips Price. NIPS PRICE is a great coach. He might have kept down the score in the game with U. S. C. if he had used up stars he kept on the bench because of injuries. Price, balancing the boys' own futures against a few touchdowns, took the right way, and took it on the chin himself by letting inferior stand in the path of the Trojan onrush.

Nips has proved himself a better sportsman than some of the other people at the University of California.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"THE AVEGING PARROT"
"MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

"And the dummy sitting there with a string of six diamonds!" Penny retorted. "Oh, well. Play bridge!"

DUNDEE'S keen aural memory registered the slight difference in the wording of the greeting as reported by this pseudo-Nita and the man she was running to greet. But he made no comment. His eyes were busy—taking in the mounting flush on Tracey Miles' florid, round face, the involuntary glances of repugnance exchanged by Karen Marshall and Carolyn Drake, and the sudden brimming of tears in Lois Dunlap's kind eyes. But Penny, as Nita, was already straightening Tracey Miles' necktie with possessive, condescending fingers, was coaxing, head tucked:

"Tracey, my honest lamb, won't you shake up the cocktails for your poor little Nita? Everything's ready on the sideboard, or I don't know my precious old Lydia, even if, her poor jaw does ache most horribly."

Then Penny was on her way, or rather on Nita's journey, to meet death, pausing in the doorway to blow a kiss from her fingertips to the fatuously grinning but now quite pale Tracey Miles.

Unobtrusively, Dundee drew his watch from his pocket, palmed it as he noted the exact minute, then commanded curtly: "Go on!"

As Tracey Miles passed the first bridge table Lois Dunlap linked her arm in his, saying in a voice she tried to make gay and natural:

"I'm trailing along, Tracey. Simply dying for a sip of Scotch! Nita's the real stuff—which is more than my fussy old Pete can get half the time!—and you know I loathe cocktails."

The two passed on into the dining room, the players scarcely raising their eyes from their cards, which they held as if the game were real.

Dundee, his watch still in his hand, advanced to the bridge table. Karen's hand trembled as she drew the nine of clubs from the

The girl-wife threw him an upward glance of gratitude through misty eyes, then led the six of spades, Mrs. Drake contributing the four, dummy taking the trick with the ace, and Penny relinquishing her three.

"Let's see—that makes five of 'em, since I trumped one trick," Karen said, as she reached across the table to lead from dummy.

As if the words were a cue—which they probably were—Judge Marshall entered the room at that moment. Judge Marshall, making a great effort to be as identity, debonair and "young for his age," as he must have thought he looked when the real game was being played.

At his step Karen lifted her head, smiled tremulously, and greeted her elderly husband with a childlike joy and a womanly tenderness:

"Hello, darling! . . . I'm trying to make a little slam I may have been foolish to bid, but Nita jumped me from two to five spades—"

"Let's have a look, sweetheart," the retired judge suggested pompously, and Dundee gave way to make room for him behind Karen's chair.

But before the judge looked at his wife's cards, he bent and kissed her on her flushed, fair cheek, and Karen raised a hand to tweak his gray mustache.

"I'm getting out my trumps, darling," Karen confided sweetly, as she reached for the deuce of spades—the only remaining trump in the dummy.

"Good Lord, child!" her husband ejaculated. "And spoil your chance to ruff clubs in the dummy? Lead this!" and pointed toward the six of diamonds.

"I WISH you'd got a puncture, Hugo, and hadn't butted in before this hand was played," Carolyn Drake sputtered. "That was our only chance, I suppose, to have set them."

"Please don't mind," Karen begged. "Hugo just wanted to help me, because he knows I'm such a dub at bridge."

Smiling adoringly at him again, Karen took his suggestion and led the six of diamonds from the dummy; Penny covered it with the nine; Karen ruffed with the seven of spades, and Mrs. Drake contributed the four of diamonds.

"I can go on getting my trumps out now, can't I, Hugo?" Karen quavered, and at her husband's smiling permission, she led the king, Carolyn had to put down what she must have foolishly thought would take a trick—the jack of spades; the dummy gave up the deuce, and Penny followed with her own last trump, the eight.

Karen counted on her fingers, her eyes on the remaining trumps in her own hand, then smiled triumphantly up at her husband.

"Why not simply tell us, Karen, that the rest of the trumps are in your own hand?" Penny suggested.

"I—I didn't mean to do anything wrong," Karen pleaded, as she led now with the jack of hearts, which drew in Carolyn's queen to cover—Carolyn murmuring religiously: "Always cover an honor with an honor—or should I have played second hand low, Penny?"—topped by the ace in the dummy, the trick being completed by Penny's three.

At that point John C. Drake marched into the room, strode straight to Dundee and spoke angrily:

"Enough of this nonsense! I, for one, refuse to act like a puppet for your amusement!"

Aviation Honor Is Sought By France

Distance Planes Being Assembled Behind Closed Doors

PARIS.—(AP)—France's welcome to Dieudonne Costes and Maitreice Bellet last night was not a warm one when technicians in French airplane factories turned back to the construction of super-planes which the French Ministry of Air believes will make France complete master of the air for 1931.

Two planes already are under construction, one of them destined for Costes and the other probably for Joseph Le Brix. They are designed on paper to carry a pair of airmen nearly halfway around the world. France expects to carry the world's distance record, which Costes already won for her, to well beyond 15,000 kilometers with these planes.

The Ministry of Air has ordered these distance planes to be mono-motor instead of fitted with several motors. One motor consumes much less fuel and the Air Ministry has decided to sacrifice safety factors for fuel.

The planes are being built in secrecy and, in fact, were conceived in secrecy. Each will cost 2,000,000 francs. No other plane built up to now can hope to link Paris with Tokyo in one flight and that is what France expects of these ships.

One of the planes is being built in the Breguet plant, to be fitted with a Hispano motor. The other is nearing completion in the Bloch factories and even they are ready for exhibition at the next aviation salon.

The Ministry of Air does not believe either of the great planes will be ready for actual record-attempting flight before mid-summer of 1931. But by August, one or the other will be off from Paris for a non-stop flight, either to Brazil and the Argentine or to Japan.

At the same time, the ministry has ordered a series of seaplanes for South Atlantic flights, and ordered what was hoped would prove to be the fastest seaplane afloat for entering in the Schneider Cup race. Engineers have run into trouble, and this order has never been fulfilled.

Slayer Sentenced to Seven Years

Joe Varden of Kelso, Pleads Guilty in Court at McGehee

McGEEHE.—After examining 96 witnesses and returning 36 indictments, the Grand Jury adjourned late Tuesday afternoon after a two-day session at Arkansas City.

Joe Varden of Kelso, pleaded guilty to a murder charge for the fatal shooting of Joe Shores, saw filer, the night of November 8, near Kelso, and was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge T. G. Parham.

Jack Tiner, 18, of Arkansas City, J. L. Carroll, 17, and G. W. Carroll, 15, who both live near Winchester, and William Whitney, negro, of Dumas, pleaded guilty to burglary and grand larceny and were sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. They confessed to the robbery of several stores in DeWitt and Drew counties recently.

C. W. Bailey of Dumas, John Mullis of Arkansas City and J. E. Carroll, father of the two Carroll boys, Lee Harris and Will Collins, negroes, also were indicted by the Grand Jury on charges of concealing stolen property for their participation in the alleged theft, which was broken last week by county officers.

Rail Workers Adopt Five Day Week Plan

CHICAGO.—(AP)—The executive council of six railway shop craft unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, Monday night adopted a program seeking a five day week with no reduction in pay as a means of alleviating unemployment.

Five operating brotherhoods last week suggested a six hour day with no reduction in pay.

The two groups, which represent the majority of the 21 railroad unions, are autonomous and have no agreement as to action taken, shopcraft officials said.

In a statement by B. M. Jewell, president of the shopcraft group, the five-day week and another program were endorsed. The second urged that all character of transportation be operated by one group of corporations regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission, as railroads now are, and that all federal and state laws now applying to railroads should apply to all carriers.

The five-day week proposal will be submitted to the railroad commission for approval and the plan will go through arbitration if not settled by law.

BODCAW

The arrival at the high school on Thursday night was well attended and everyone seemed to have a good time. Miss Opal Haddock entertained the young people with a party Friday night.

The Bodcaw boys and girls basketball game played a double-header on Friday and at Bodcaw on Saturday, although Bodcaw was the winner each time, they put up a good fight and show prospects of becoming a team.

More than 300 of the pupils attending school at Bodcaw are brilliant students.

School was dismissed on Wednesday of this week for Thanksgiving. The red side was defeated in the Saturday school contest. They will certainly be blue with a lucky break.

"When I Visited—I Found"

Says

ROBERT H. DAVIS

("Bob" Davis)

Noted Newspaper Correspondent

"Winning the public's favor is no longer a matter of shouting from the housetops—today you must offer them something concrete. When I visited Reidsville and went through the LUCKY STRIKE plant, I found one explanation for the growth of LUCKY STRIKE. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the tobaccos is a splendid example of achievement. It is the new order of the day."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Mr. Robert H. Davis to personally witness and to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE'S famous Toasting Process and report his findings. The statement of Mr. Davis appears on this page.

Stepfather Kills Girl and Then Drowns Self

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—Stella Max, 15, was beaten fatally with an electric iron late Monday after an argument with her stepfather, John Pirutka, 40, who shortly afterward leaped 100 feet from a bridge to his death in the Cuyahoga river here.

Pirutka, out over work, had been playing tunes on an accordion while the girl sang, until an argument arose between them. Shortly after he left the house his wife came in from work and found the girl lying unconscious on the floor with eight gashes in her head and a bloody iron and a partly filled bottle of liquor nearby. Stella died in a hospital.

Pirutka went to the superior high level bridge and leaped off. Refusing proffered aid, he sank from sight. When his body was recovered two bank books showing balances of $1300 and $500 were found in his pockets.

Chute Leap Ends
Nettleton FlightYoung Cross-Country Flier
Leaves Plane When Instruments "Freeze"

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(P)—A daring parachute leap 10,000 feet in the air saved the life of Gerald Nettleton, 20, Toledo (O.) aviator, as he was only 40 miles from his goal in an attempt to set a new junior transcontinental flight record.

Dense fog and "frozen" instruments caused Nettleton to abandon his plane. The plane crashed about a mile from where its pilot landed.

Except for being rainsoaked and severely cold, young Nettleton escaped unhurt. He landed near a ranch house a quarter-mile from the state highway.

"The weather was so 'Soupy,' I could not see 10 feet," Nettleton said. "The instruments 'froze' and since I couldn't see there was only one thing to do and that was to jump. I fought the weather as long as I dared. I hated to jump but that was my only alternative. So I leveled the plane off, cut the switch closed the throttle and rolled out the door.

"I did not see the earth until less than 200 feet from it. That was how bad the weather was.

"I was close to a ranch house and made my way there. The rancher took me into Pine Valley to a telephone. Later I went back to the ranch house and had a big Thanksgiving dinner with the rancher and his family. The rancher then brought me into San Diego.

"The motor was functioning perfectly and it was through no fault of the plane that I bailed out. The weather was just too much.

Young Nettleton's leap, probably made him the youngest member of the Caterpillar Club of aviators who have used parachutes to save their lives.

Though he was defeated in his plans to hang up a new junior record, Nettleton said he would get another plane and make another try at the records, held by Stanley Boynton of Rockland, Me.

Student Failures Decrease
In Oklahoma University

NORMAN, Okla.—(U.P.)—Student failures at the University of Oklahoma are on the decline.

Forty-one students, who were enrolled on probation last fall have been automatically dropped because of failure to pass in 40 per cent of their work.

The number is smaller than in past years, George Wadsworth, registrar, said.

A total of 275 were enrolled on probation and only 41 failed to make good.

Fire, All Right, But It
Was in Hip Pocket

CENTERVILLE, Ia.—(P)—William Caldwell, an employee of the Iowa Southern Utilities Company, rushed into the office here saying there was a fire in the building, for he had smelled the smoke.

"I guess there is," the foreman said coolly, drawing a pair of burning gloves from Caldwell's hip pocket. A pipe had ignited the gloves.

Horatio Store Damaged
By Thanksgiving Blaze

HORATIO—Fire of undetermined origin Thursday damaged the building occupied by the Model Drug company. Stock of the store was damaged by water. Clair Leslie, manager, was out of town and it was impossible to determine hours of flight.

In comparison there was one grave accident for each 1,143 flying hours in 1921, while seven in 1929, reckoned a comparatively safe year in French aviation, there was one accident for each 2,633 hours of flying.

She'll Tell All
About Clara

The row between Clara Bow and her ex-secretary, Daisy Devo (above) took a new turn—or several new turns—in Los Angeles when District Attorney Fitts announced that the grand jury would hear charges that Miss Devo took $35,000 worth of Clara's jewelry. Miss Devo, meanwhile, says she is going to sue Clara and threatens to "reveal a lot of her secrets."

Joe and Betty Co-Ed
Barred at Bryan's U.

DAYTON, Tenn.—(U.P.)—Joe College and Betty Co-ed are not walking upon the campus of William Jennings Bryan University here, and if they do they must walk straight.

The 40 boys and girls who have matriculated as students this fall were admitted for character and seriousness of purpose, as well as for having graduated from high school.

There is little chance of the ukelele or cutdown car making much advent, for an overemphasis of "college life" will not be encouraged. A school paper and a dramatic club will be organized, but no provisions have been made for other college activities.

William Jennings Bryan has a school of arts, a school of sciences, and a school of business administration where degrees are offered at the completion of four years work.

Everybody must take three hours of Bible each year, for the Bible is the backbone of the university, Dr. George E. Guille, a graduate of Southwestern Presbyterian College, is president of the new institution. He is conducting most of the Bible classes.

While students of all denominations and beliefs may be admitted, officials and faculty members are required to be fundamentalists. The principles of fundamentalism, which William Jennings Bryan spent his last days defending will be stressed.

Approximately one-quarter of the $750,000 subscribed for the University has been raised.

Immediately after he espoused fundamentalism against Clarence Darrow five years ago, Bryan died. Four days before he had expressed the hope that a university, founded on old-time faith, might be established in the hill country about Dayton.

Christian fundamentalists throughout the United States rallied to make his dream a reality.

Writer Fears Electricity
May Exterminate Birds

PARIS.—(U.P.)—Numberless spectacles of whole flocks of birds clamped rigidly to fatal telephone and telegraph wires, or crumpled limply on the ground beneath, have moved Jacques Delamain, French writer, to predict the gradual extinction of bird life unless changes are made in modern overhead electrical contrivances.

High tension lines throughout Europe take their annual toll, says M. Delamain, of pigeons, swallows, and field larks. Many of the larger birds are electrocuted when their hasty landing sways one wire against another.

It was pointed out that the greater number of electrocutions took place in the rural districts, where, unlike the cities, electric wires have not been placed underground.

French Answer Attacks
On Fatal Air Accidents

PARIS.—(U.P.)—Answering violent attacks against the Minister of Air for the alleged high proportion of fatal accidents in France's military aviation, the government let it be known that France's percentage of fatal accidents was much under the world average.

Despite a series of accidents which brought forth vigorous protests, the Ministry of Air estimated that during the first six months of this year there was only an average of one fatal accident for each 3,061 hours of flying. The average among the leading aviation nations is one accident for 3,000
